

Hair and bathroom

Our handcrafted combs are made of Neem wood, a sustainable, strong, durable wood that has many health benefits; it's often used in soap and shampoos used for skin and digestion problems.

AND it's...

- authentic - no mass production here!
- eco-friendly
- exploitation-free. The combs are made by women from remote villages in Bengal, India, who receive fair pay for their work.

Handmade soaps & shampoos Solid shampoos

Best sellers!

We've been selling these great soaps and solid shampoos from Soap-n-Scent, a WFOT member in Chiang Mai, Thailand, for several years.

All SNS soaps are cruelty free, made with pure vegetable oils that do not clog skin pores. They also contain glycerin, a by-product of Soap-n-Scent's homemade process, which improves the skin's moisture balance by holding moisture on your skin without interfering with the skin's natural functions. Only the purest of essential oils are used.

Boycotting palm oil is not the answer! Alternatives like soy can use 10x more land, cause the destruction of the rainforests, loss of biodiversity and contribute to climate change. It also harms small holder farmers who depend on palm oil for their livelihood.

The palm oil used in these soaps is RSPO certified, the internationally recognised certification for sustainably farmed palm oil.

Loofahs!

The loofah is a dried-out gourd of the cucumber family. It's an excellent scrubber for sinks, tiles and other hard surfaces, and it's a great exfoliating sponge helping to give you clean and healthy skin. It can also be used as a soap dish, its porous quality allowing soap to dry out fast. These loofahs are from India.
